Teaching evaluations

Vittoria Iannotta

The evaluations follow the order of the teaching table in my teaching statement.

Course	Role	Pages
Introduction to Macroeconomics HEC Paris, 2022	Lecturer	2–4
Introduction to Macroeconomics HEC Paris, 2023	Lecturer	5–7
Advanced Macroeconomics École Polytechnique, 2022–23	Teaching assistant	8
Advanced Macroeconomics École Polytechnique, 2023–24	Teaching assistant	9
Advanced Macroeconomics École Polytechnique, 2024–25	Teaching assistant	10
Game theory for negotiation Council of the EU, 2026	Designer and trainer	11

École Polytechnique. I was the teaching assistant; the lectures were given by another instructor. Only the question on my teaching ("Were you satisfied with the quality of teaching from Vittoria Ianotta?") is reproduced. The questions on the course and on the lecturer are omitted.

Sources. All pages are the institutions' own reports, unchanged. The 2022–23 École Polytechnique results exist only as a spreadsheet (LimeSurvey export), so that question is transcribed verbatim. The 2026 Council of the EU training was delivered jointly with ESSEC IRENE; its results are printed from the spreadsheet the Council sent, and the form rates the training as a whole.

26	Vittoria's delivery is very well structured, always emphasized on what we need from the slides or what we need to remember mostly to be able of solving. She engaged with us, made sure to be slow, even when time didn't allow to cover the whole long PCs she made sure to provide intuition for most difficult questions so that we have an idea of what to do and how to do it. Keep it up!
28	As said: Very motivated and engaging. Gave good insights and I appreciated the short recaps done every week. Somethimes a bit insecure/unsure about solutions when being challenged.
31	Vittoria was very dedicated and enthusiastic, the PCs helped a lot to digest the courses

20	The added value of the PC was lower in macroeconomics because the lecturer, Professor Michau, is an amazing teacher who explained very well, and his corrections of the problem sets were quite comprehensive and detailed. The TA is nice, and explains well. The only problem is the handwriting which is very confusing, especially for a course where each variable needs to be properly understood for the equations to be understood.
23	didnt attend, but she seems nice cuz she volunteer to grade the PCs. (Although I didnt submit as well)
24	We can't cover a lot of ground because we can't prepare the PC adequately. Let us prepare the PC with the correction, mark questions and ask them at the PC. We would save a lot of time and improve efficiency.
27	She provides a structure for solving the exercises, and she keeps us engaged. She provides intuition and i also really liked the small recap at the beginning of the TD
37	Great but need to work on her handwritting, a bit difficult to read on the board

	Very knowledgeable trainers. To improve even more : afternoon program, hold one exercise from different perspectives (and then together apply the theory to it) + some more in-depth theory in the afternoon as well. Suggestions for further reading after and the uploading of course material beforehand would also be useful. Thank you!
	Great training with very nice and competent trainers. What could be improved:* Teaching a game theoretical framework which can be applied to different situations. There were elements of it in the workshop, but this could be further elaborated. (Goes together with the following comment).* The theory/examples-ratio was imbalanced. There was too little theory and too many examples, especially during the afternoon.
